Faith Statement – May 30, 2010

Hello, my name is Alec McKenna and this is what I believe. Jesus Christ is a man who healed the sick and disabled, spread the word of God's goodness and love, and He is a man who died on a cross for us. He is not an ordinary man in saying that He was God's son and would always listen to and do as His father instructed, even though it would lead to His death. I am ready to commit my life to Jesus because I have spent many years in Sunday school and confirmation which has taught me to follow in His ways and understand His life. I believe that God is always with me no matter what goes wrong in my life. I also believe that God is able to forgive my sins the same way I can erase all of the information off of a hard drive. God has no limit and can do anything he wants, even if it may hurt us, because He knows what is right for us and does the best He can for us on earth until we get to heaven, where we can finally be with Him. St. Paul's has supported me through many difficult issues in my life. For example, when my great-grandma and my grandpa died, the entire congregation was there for me and for my family through our mourning and grieving. They made me feel better because I didn't feel as alone after they were gone. My Christian Faith Community is important to me because it is a way to get away from the sinful world and learn of ways to lessen my sins. My family has supported my faith development through teaching Sunday School and Confirmation. My mom has been teaching every year of my class since I was in third grade. They have also made me come to church and Sunday School, even if I didn't want to go. I plan to commit myself to this community by continuing my education of Jesus, God, and the Bible. I would like to continue learning even though I will be sleeping through Sunday School.
