

Breanna Berger

Faith Statement – May 26, 2013

To me Jesus is a miracle worker, savior, and friend. He's extremely important to me because he's helped me get through some pretty tough times. Having faith in him means always believing in what he can do. Being a Christian means always having faith in Jesus, God, and others and to always do what's right. To me St. Paul's means freedom because here I am free to be myself, free of negative judgment, and here I become free of sin. The church has supported me both mentally and physically. Mentally they've given me lots of wisdom and helped me try new things, while physically they've sent me to many places where I've learned new techniques and skills and have also been able to help people. God has given me the gifts to help people, to always do what's right, and to advance in my academic career. I did these things when I was younger, am doing them now, and plan to keep doing them till I no longer can. Over the last 3 years of Confirmation I've learned a lot about Jesus, God, and myself. I plan to be involved in the church by helping with different activities and events volunteering, and furthering my education with the high school class. I would like to thank God, Jesus, my family, friends, and this entire congregation. Thank you!