

Matt Parry

Faith Statement – May 26, 2013

Jesus is everything to me. Without Jesus I wouldn't be who I am today. He died on the cross to save my sins so I could have this life. It is important that I believe in Jesus, because he guides me along in things that I do, and helps me when I don't know what to do. He is the reason I am here, and the reason I won't be here in the future. And I have faith in Jesus. This means that I will never turn my back on Jesus, and I will never try to wrong him in any way. This means that I will be the best that I can be with the life that he gave me, and not use it in bad ways. And if I do mess up, I will be forgiven.

The church to me is a family. I have been going to church for my whole life and have made friends who keep me out of trouble. The church has supported me by giving me a place to worship the LORD, and by giving me people to support me if I need it. God has given me many gifts. Not just the physical aspects, but also the mental. Some of the physical, though, include hockey and lacrosse, the sports I play. He has also given me confidence of the things that I do, as well as the good grades I get in school.

I plan to use these gifts to help others besides myself. I also plan to go to college with the grades in school that I get. In confirmation I have learned that mainly about the bible, but also that Jesus is our savior, and without him, there wouldn't be me. I plan to be involved in the church in being a member of the church and helping the church where I am needed. I would like to thank my parents for taking me to church through my whole life, and supporting me in everything that I do. I would also like to thank Pastor Scott for not only being a great pastor but a good friend.